

Nearly one-third of consumers would be willing to switch to Google, Amazon or Facebook; but are as willing to switch to a supermarket or retailer for financial services products

Would you consider setting up a bank account with an online service provider, such as Amazon or Google; or with a supermarket or retailer?

